Graphic asset specification & NanoBanana2 prompt pack · generated 2026-07-17 · 144 assets, each with a complete ready-to-paste prompt

✓ Already complete — verified, not re-specced

- 100 character portraits — `Character Selection RAW/Character Assets/batch01-13/<slug>.png` → shipped as `public/villagers/<slug>.webp`
- 100 weapon item-sets — `Character Selection RAW/Weapon Assets/weapons/wbatch01-13/<slug>.png` → shipped as `public/weapons/<slug>.webp`

Verified by machine diff against `villagers.js` : all 200 slugs match a character `id` exactly — zero missing, zero orphaned. These are excluded from this document because they already exist; re-generating them would be wasted spend.

Global style prompt — prepend to every prompt below

1940s-50s American small-town vintage storybook illustration. Warm cream parchment background (#F2E8D5), rich brown ink linework, muted desaturated palette — sage green, dusty teal, brick red, mustard. Soft cel shading, subtle paper grain, clean vector-adjacent lineart. No photorealism, no harsh gradients, no modern elements, no text.

Every prompt in this document already includes this preamble inline, so each block is copy-paste ready on its own. Generate each category in one sitting to keep the palette tight.

✓ Resolved since the first edition — the engine now runs on your manifest

- Weapon model — RESOLVED. The engine previously gave each character one invented weapon and ignored your cards. It now runs on your manifest: each character owns one item set (the card art "ITEM SET n") holding three methods at one location. The deduction key is the SET, which is unique per character — so the four methods your manifest shares across characters ("letter opener" → Eugene 3, Ronnie 6, Dexter 17) no longer break anything. The murderer picks a set, then picks which of its three methods staged the kill.
- Section G is NO LONGER speculative. Locations are live game data — every clue renders "Item Set n · Location". These plates now have a real slot in the product.
- Asset paths — CORRECTED. The code reads `/villagers/<slug>.webp` and `/weapons/<slug>.webp`, with 256w thumbnails under `thumb/`. Your `Character Selection RAW/` tree remains the master.
